JAN. 31, 1891.

On account of the absence from town of W. L. Morrison, who was elected Auditor at the annual meeting of 1890, the remaining Auditors, in accordance with the provisions of Chap. 254 of the Acts of 1890, elected George D. Willis in his place, who, being duly sworn, has performed the duties of Auditor.

The Auditors made the usual visit to the Almshouse. From their one day's experience and observation they are of opinion that the keepers, Mrs. and Mr. Potter, are well qualified to perform the difficult duties of their office. The house and its surroundings were in a neat and orderly condition, and the inmates were evidently kindly and thoughtfully provided for. It is to be observed that there is an increase of the cost of the poor over past years. A part of this increase arises from a charge for repairing the lock-ups and other permanent improvements.

DANIEL POTTER,
ALVERDO MASON,
Auditors.

REPORT OF BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Water Commissioners, composed of Hon. Asa French, John V. Scollard, and Hon. James T. Stevens, chosen under an act of the Legislature of 1885, respectfully submits through its secretary the following report:—

The matter in dispute between the town and the private corporation acting under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of 1886, not having as yet reached a termination, obeying the instruction of the town the Board has made no move looking to the introduction of water under the act accepted by the town.

During the past year numerous petitions have been received, asking that the commissioners lay pipe to be connected with pipe owned or controlled by the Braintree Water Supply Company.

While recognizing the urgency of the demand for increased water supply in a growing community like ours, still it seemed utterly impossible to accede to the wishes of the petitioners, for this reason: The money at the disposition of the Water Board was raised for a specific purpose, the establishment of a system of water-works from Great Pond. It can be readily understood that the expenditure of any part of this money in extending a plant constructed under authority of a charter entirely separate and independent from that under which the town has acted, by a private corporation, might lead to litigation at present undesirable.

The Board has elected as its treasurer, Andrew J. Bates, Esq., who is also treasurer of the sinking fund. The financial report of the Board, which appears upon another page, is recommended to your attention. It will be seen that the sinking fund which was loaned temporarily to the town has been invested in savings institutions of reliable standing in this immediate vicinity. As the fund grows, it is probable that the trustees can secure an investment in one or more first-class mortgages, which would be more feasible for obvious reasons than the present investment, made as a matter of expediency for the time being.

The Board deemed it advisable to collect the pipes, joints, hydrants, specials, etc., lying on the streets in the north section of the town, for storage at places convenient for transportation. consequently stored in rear of Congregational Church in north section, in and around carriage-sheds at Town Hall, and in sheds at almshouse, the following articles, viz.: 218 10-inch pipes, 359 6-inch pipes (of these pipes we found twenty-seven had been broken in previous removal by the workmen upon the highway), 32 12inch branches, 9 10-inch branches, 28 8-inch branches, 93 6-inch branches, 1 12-inch curve, 5 8-inch curves, 9 6-inch curves, 2 6inch elbows, 1 12-inch to 10-inch reducer, 1 10-inch to 8-inch reducer, 1 8-inch to 6-inch reducer, 5 12-inch sleeves, 2 10-inch sleeves, 6 8-inch sleeves, 8 6-inch sleeves, 6 4-inch sleeves, 12 12inch gates, 7 10-inch gates, 13 8-inch gates, 49 6-inch gates, 2 4-inch gates, 2 12-inch plugs, 10 8-inch plugs, 63 6-inch plugs, 3 4-inch plugs, 27 gate caps, 25 6-inch hydrants. All these pipes, joints, hydrants, etc., are now packed with timber, so that they may be found intact whenever the town may desire to use or sell them. There is at present no unlaid pipe upon any street except Middle, between Union and River Streets, and as this street will undoubtedly be piped in the near future, and the pipe not being in the way of public travel, it was thought best not to remove it. Of the pipe stored, there has been sold 9,130 pounds to town of Avon, for which there has been paid into the treasury one hundred and fiftynine dollars and seventy-eight cents ($159.78); to Braintree Water Supply Company, 675 pounds, for which there is due the sum of eleven dollars and eighty-one cents ($11.81). There has been, during the past two years, five lengths of ten-inch and three lengths of six-inch pipe laid in gutters by the Highway Surveyor in the north part of the town, for which there is due from the Highway Department to our treasury the sum of seventy-two dollars and ninety-one cents ($72.91).

All pipe sold has been at the cost price, thirty-five dollars per ton.

Several consultations have been held during the year with the firm of John Cavanagh & Son, looking to a settlement out of court of their claim against the town. It has been the unanimous opinion of the Board that the town desired to make Messrs.

Cavanagh & Son absolutely whole in this matter, with a margin of profit commensurate with the contract price of the job they undertook, and the commissioners' actions have been with this idea in view. However, no settlement has been effected, and the case is now being heard by an auditor, under the direction of the Selectmen.

We regard the nearness of a final settlement of the "water question" as a matter of congratulation to the town, securing as it does the ownership by the town of its own water supply, and making probable the extension of water service to localities not at present so benefited.

By order of Board of Water Commissioners,

JOHN V. SCOLLARD,

Secretary.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

Judging from its increased use, the library would seem to be increasingly appreciated by the town.

The trustees have endeavored to make the most of the means at their disposal, and while aware of many serious wants, are hoping gradually to supply them.

During the year they have ventured to add to the books intended more especially for reference, a full set of the Encyclopedia Brittanica.

To render the library as acceptable and useful as possible to all, the trustees are always glad to receive any suggestions as to books or management. These, if written and handed at any time to the librarian, will not fail to be carefully considered, and if advisable acted upon.

It has been brought to the attention of the trustees that some of the wood-work in the interior of the library building is very much out of repair, nothing having been done to it since the building was first completed, and the trustees recommend that the town make a special appropriation of two hundred and fifty dollars, to be used, or so much of it as may be required, for making the needed repairs, the balance, if any remaining, to be returned to the town treasury.

The trustees would add that during the last month they made purchases of new books from Messrs. Estes & Lauriat, which are now in the library, to the amount of the balance as shown in the treasury Feb. 1, but the bills had not been adjusted so they could be paid by the Treasurer before his account was passed upon by the town auditors at that date.

BRAINTREE, Feb. 11, 1891.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:

Gentlemen,— In accordance with the rules and regulations governing fire departments, I have the honor to submit to you my third annual report of the doings and condition of the department for the year ending Jan. 31, 1891, together with the number of members, fires, losses, and insurance, inventory of public property belonging to the department, and such suggestions as I deem of interest to the good working of the department.

Engineers Department, Organized Feb. 12, 1890.

. The same of the term of the same of the Chief Engineer, Edward O. Pierson, residence, Washington Street, Braintree.

Assistant Engineer and Clerk, Frank O. Whitmarsh, residence, Shaw Street, East Braintree.

Assistant Engineer, Marcus A. Perkins, residence, Hancock Street, South Braintree.

Force of the Department.

The force of the department consists of one chief and two assistants, and fifty-five (55) members, making a total of fifty-eight (58) men.

Companies Organized Feb. 3, 1891.

Union Hose Company No. 1, S. E. Whitmarsh, foreman, 15 men. Butcher Boy Hose Company No. 2, J. F. Winslow, foreman, 15 men.

N. F. T. Hayden Hose Company No. 3, J. F. Gallivan, foreman, 10 men.

Wampatuck Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, James F. Galivan, foreman, 15 men.

Houses.

The engine-houses are in good repair and need nothing the coming year except to keep them in good order, unless it should be decided to make some alterations.

APPARATUS.

The apparatus at present in service consists of two hand-engines, two jumpers, two hose-carriages, one hose-wagon, and one hook and ladder truck.

Hose.

There was at the commencement of the year 4,550 feet of hose, of which 750 feet have been condemned. As good hose is our main reliance, I would recommend purchasing 1,000 feet of hose, 800 feet for the East Village, and 200 feet for the South Village.

Description of hose in department which is serviceable: 2,650 feet of cotton, rubber lined, 400 feet of rubber hose, 400 feet of leather hose, and 63 feet of suction hose.

INVENTORY OF PROPERTY

In Possession of the Fire Department, and in Use Feb. 1, 1890.

Union Hose Company No. 1.

One jumper, 1 hand-engine, 28 feet suction hose, 750 feet cotton, rubber-lined hose, 550 feet rubber hose, 200 feet leather hose, 6 spanners and belts, 5 axes, 4 fire buckets, 4 pipes, 4 nozzles, 3 lanterns, 3 ladders, 1 pole for horses, 2 fire hooks, 6 army coats, badges, 1 hydrant wrench, one hydrant gate (1 hose-carriage added later).

BUTCHER BOY HOSE COMPANY No. 2.

One jumper, 1 hand engine, 1 pole for horses, 1,100 feet cotton, rubber-lined hose, 450 feet rubber hose, 200 feet leather hose, 36 feet suction hose, 6 pipes, 7 nozzles, 1 axe, 3 fire hats, 6 army coats, 4 fire buckets, 12 spanners and belts, 1 lantern, 5 ladders, badges, 1 hydrant gate, 1 hydrant wrench, 2 hose hooks, one hatchet (1 hose-wagon and tools for same added later).

N. F. T. HAYDEN HOSE COMPANY No. 3.

One hose carriage, 1,000 feet cotton, rubber-lined hose, 2 pipes, 6 spanners with belts, 1 hydrant wrench, 1 hydrant gate, 2 nozzles, 1 axe, 1 bar, 10 badges.

WAMPATUCK HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY No. 1.

One truck, 1 pole for horses, 8 ladders, 1 tongue, 17 buckets, 5 hooks, 2 axes, 2 hatchets, 3 forks, 3 lanterns, 5 army coats, 2 ladder dogs, 15 badges.

LIST OF FIRES.

The number of fires and alarms were five. Fires causing the greatest loss were: A. W. Dyer, June 2; Columbia Rubber Company, Sept. 27; heirs of Elijah Benjamin, Oct. 5.

FIRE LOSSES AND INSURANCE FOR 1890.

- June 2. A. W. Dyer's piggery; loss on building, $600; insured for $600; loss on contents, $840; insured for $835; cause, incendiary.
- June 8. Old Colony Railroad, in sand pit; loss, $375; no insurance; cause, incendiary.
 - July 1. Alarm of fire from South Braintree; brush fire.
- Sept. 27. Columbia Rubber Company; loss on building, $1,900; insured for $1,500; loss on contents, $5,000; insured for $1,500; cause, spontaneous combustion.
- Oct. 5. Heirs of Elijah Benjamin; loss on building, $1,200; insured for $1,000; loss on contents, $300; no insurance; cause, lamp explosion.

This has been a most remarkable year for fires. A part of the department have responded promptly, and have done their work faithfully. In this age of relief valves and shut-off nozzles, etc., there is less excuse for damaging property than formerly.

We have made quite an outlay for hose-carriage and hose-wagon, etc., which I believe to be true policy, for by doing a little each year, for a few years, the department will be got into such a shape that we shall have only the running expenses to provide for.

I would recommend that the members of the department be increased in pay, and that the appropriation be $1,500. I would recommend that the town appropriate the sum of $650 for the purchase of 1,000 feet of hose for the East and South villages, as the East Village is sadly in need of more hose, and if a large fire should take place it could not cope with it.

The board have purchased for the East Village a hose-carriage, at a cost of $185, and a hose-wagon for the South Village, at a cost of $418, which is quite an addition to the department, being ornamental as well as useful, and will last the town for years and years to come.

· Conclusion.

In conclusion. I would tender my thanks to your honorable board for past favors, and their hearty co-operation to the gentlemen of the Board of Engineers, for the very able assistance rendered me on every occasion, and to those of the officers and members of the department who have performed their duty in a prompt and faithful manner, by an official notice sent by me to your honorable board early in the fall positively declining to stand for reappointment. I have always done my duty as becoming my position in an honorable manner for the best interests of the town at large, and hoping that in the future, as in the past, the department will (all) be as ready and willing to respond when duty calls, and always be as fortunate as in the year just closed,

Respectfully submitted,

Committee on Drainage made a report, as follows: -

The committee appointed at the last annual town-meeting to consider the matter of drainage for the town, report that as no provision was made by the town for the payment of such expenses as the committee might think necessary to incur, their consideration of the subject has been limited. They conclude, however, that some streets in the several villages, and some of the main streets connecting these villages, should be provided with altogether different and better drainage than they now have. In order to properly present the matter to the town for its consideration, the committee are of the opinion that the committee should be authorized to call upon the State Board of Health to send an engineer to make examination of the several locations indicated, as the law provides. The expense attending this would be small. Then, upon the report of the plan and costs to the town, it could act intelligently and as the necessities might require.

The committee also suggest that if the committee and agents of the State Board of Health agree upon a plan of drainage, the committee or some other persons be authorized to secure a competent engineer to survey the localities and make suitable drawings of the plans agreed upon, provided the cost does not exceed $150.

Said plans and drawings to be submitted to the town at any town-meeting within the ensuing year.

T. H. DEARING.
A. E. AVERY.
H. M. WHITE.

Voted, To appropriate $150 in accordance with the above report. Voted, That the sum of $500 be appropriated to place flaggingstones across the streets at such places as may be deemed necessary by the Selectmen.

Voted, To adjourn sine die.

SAMUEL A. BATES,

Town Clerk.

NORFOLK, ss. To either of the Constables of the town of Braintree, Greeting:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are required to notify and warn the inhabitants of the town of Braintree, qualified to vote in town affairs, to meet at the Town Hall, in said Braintree, on Tuesday, the twenty-fourth day of June, 1890, at eight o'clock in the evening, to act on the following articles, namely:—

NORFOLK, ss. To either of the Constables of the town of Braintree,

Greeting:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby required to notify and warn the inhabitants of the town of Braintree, qualified to vote in town affairs, to meet at the Town Hall in said Braintree, on Wednesday, the seventeenth day of December, 1890, at seven and one half o'clock in the evening, to act on the following articles, namely:—

- ARTICLE 1. To choose a moderator to preside at said meeting.
- ART. 2. To hear the report of the joint committee, consisting of the members of the School Board and a special committee appointed to take into consideration the best means of supplying the educational needs of the town; to act thereon, and to authorize said joint committee, or such other committee as the town may appoint, to carry into effect the improvements recommended in said report.
- ART. 3. To see if the town will appropriate such sum or sums of money as may be necessary for the purpose of erecting additions to the Pond Schoolhouse and the Union Schoolhouse, and for fitting up said additions for school purposes.
- ART. 4. To see if the town will authorize the Town Treasurer to borrow on the credit of the town such sum or sums of money as the town shall appropriate or direct him to borrow; and the money to be thus borrowed shall be expended in defraying the expenses incurred in building additions to the Pond Schoolhouse and the Union Schoolhouse, and for fitting up said additions for school purposes.
- ART. 5. To see if the town will accept Chap. 386 of the Acts and Resolves of the Legislature of 1890.
- ART. 6. To see if the town will instruct the Selectmen in relation to any of the lawsuits now pending, in which the town is the defendant.
- ART. 7. To see if the town will appropriate a sum of money to defray the expenses of the lawsuit between the town and the mill owners.
- ART. 8. To choose any committee, or hear the report of any committee, and to act thereon.

You are to give notice of this meeting by posting true and attested copies of this warrant in not less than nine public places in this town, seven days before the time of said meeting, and by publishing once in the Braintree Observer.

Hereof fail not, but make return of this warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, before the time of said meeting.

Town Clerk.

Braintree, Jan. 28, 1891.

The town met in accordance with the adjournment from Dec. 30, 1890.

Moderator called the meeting to order.

The committee to whom was referred the educational needs of the town made the following report:—

The following report of the joint committee, consisting of the School Board and a special committee appointed to act, consult, and advise with said Board as to the best means of supplying the educational needs of the town, is most respectfully submitted.

The committee had, in the first place, to consider in what respect the present schoolhouses were insufficient for the use and accommodation of all the children entitled to attend the public schools. The committee, upon inquiry and investigation, ascertained that the most serious difficulty was a lack of room and seating capacity in many of the schools, and particularly so in the Pond and Union schools. It was evident to the committee that something should be done at once in the way of remedying this difficulty, and of providing additional accommodations for the children entitled to attend these schools.

The rapid increase in our population is undoubtedly gratifying, but at the same time it is an embarrassing problem to provide the increased number of pupils incident thereto with proper and suitable accommodations.

At the Pond School, on Nov. 1, 1890, there were in attendance in grammar room, 35 pupils (48 desks); in the intermediate room, 51 pupils (48 desks); in the first primary room, 60 pupils (45 desks); in the second primary room, 59 pupils (54 desks); total number of pupils in all the rooms, 205.

At the same time last year, 187 pupils; showing an increase of 18, or 93 per cent in one year. The overcrowded condition rendered it necessary to employ six teachers to properly instruct the large number of pupils in attendance.

It was impossible for the School Committee to procure a suitable place for a school, outside of the present building. It was, therefore, necessary to place extra desks in the aisles and passageways, in order to seat the children. It is obvious that this causes a great deal of trouble and inconvenience to the teachers in charge, as well as having a tendency to impair the health of the scholars.

At the Union School, on Nov. 1, 1890, there were in attendance in the grammar room, 47 pupils (49 desks); in the intermediate room, 34 pupils (36 desks); in the first primary room, 46 pupils (48 desks); in the second primary room, 51 pupils (66 desks); Winter's shop, an outside room fitted up for school purposes, 28 pupils (28 desks). Total number of pupils in all rooms, 206. Last year at same time, 172; an increase of 34, or 19\frac{3}{4} per cent.

Five teachers are necessarily employed in this school. An examination of the above statistics shows that the present available room is completely taken up in both the Pond and Union Schools, particularly so in the lower grades. In the next place, the committee had to consider how such additional accommodations as are obviously required might be At first, two propositions suggested themselves: (1) To enlarge the present buildings; (2) to build entirely new ones. The committee, after due consideration, unanimously agreed that it would be more satisfactory and decidedly more economical to build additions to the present Pond and Union Schoolhouses. An architect was accordingly engaged to prepare plans and specifications to that end. It was the endeavor of the architect to disturb the existing buildings as little as was consistent with a proper solution of the problem. In the case of the Pond School, it has been found quite easy to add two wings to the present building without in any way disturbing the old portions. The drawings presented herewith will illustrate the arrangement. The committee recommends that the plans for the proposed extensions to the Pond School be adopted substantially as drawn and prepared by the architect, and that the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500) be appropriated for the purpose of building and fitting up said extensions.

The Union School was more difficult to treat, both in exterior arrangement and in plan, as it required more radical changes to obtain a satisfactory arrangement. The additions to this building are proposed to be made by building an extension in the rear. The drawings herewith presented will illustrate the manner in which the proposed changes are to be carried into effect. The committee recommends that the proposed alterations of this building, as shown by the plans of the architect, be substantially carried out, and that the town appropriate the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000) for that purpose and for procuring such school fittings as may be necessary.

The committee is of the opinion that the alterations proposed to be made substantially as called for by the plans and specifications herein referred to will be entirely satisfactory in all respects, and that when these proposed extensions are completed, the town will possess, not only interesting architecturally, but also providing sufficient, suitable, convenient, and healthful accommodations for the pupils attending them.

The committee therefore unanimously recommends that the town appropriate such sums of money as may be necessary to build said additions in a proper and substantial manner, and take such further action in the premises in order that the proposed extensions may be ready for occupancy by the first day of September next.

The committee submits these suggestions at this time, because it is absolutely essential, in the opinion of the committee, that the over-crowded condition of the within-mentioned schoolhouses and compliance with the law demand immediate action on the part of the town.

It will be remembered that a year has almost passed since the School Committee was ordered by the Board of District Police to make certain improvements in said buildings, and although the Board has so far been willing to delay the carrying out of these improvements at the request of the committee on the supposition that the town was going to take action in the matter, it is doubtful how much longer they will be willing to continue this delay.

Certainly the needs of the schools, as well as the keeping of good faith with the Board, requires immediate and decisive action on the part of the town.

Voted, To receive the report and discharge the committee.

Voted, That the report be referred to the next annual meeting.

Voted, That Articles 3 and 4 be referred to the next annual meeting.

Voted, That Articles 5, 6, and 7 be indefinitely postponed.

ARTICLE 8. The committee chosen Jan. 18, 1891, on law suits against the town submitted the following report:—

The committee appointed at the town-meeting held Jan. 14, 1891, to whom was referred Article 3 of the warrant, present herewith the following recommendations:—

First. In the suit of the Braintree Water Supply Company v. Town of Braintree, your committee are informed that, with the exception of the closing argument, the hearings have been finished, and they recommend that no action be taken by the town at the present time, other than that the same should be brought to a settlement as speedily as possible.

Second. In the suit of Mill Owners v. Towns of Braintree, Holbrook, and Randolph, your committee are informed that the towns of Holbrook and Randolph have appealed from the decision of the Commissioners, and asked for a jury trial, and are also informed that Braintree is bound by the action of the other towns. If this information is correct, then, since the interests of the three towns are identical, one counsel ought to be sufficient to defend our rights, and the committee recommend that the Selectmen be instructed to make such arrangements with the other towns as may be necessary to have the three towns represented by one counsel, and the expense to be shared equally; or, if the claims against the town of Braintree can be settled independently of the towns of Holbrook and Randolph, the Selectmen should be instructed to take such action advisable to settle said claims.

Third. In the suit of John Cavanagh & Sons v. Town of Braintree. As hearings in this suit are now in progress before a Commissioner, it has been impossible for your committee to obtain such definite information as they would like. They are of the opinion, however, that it is possible to compromise the suit without the delay and expense attendant on a long hearing, and they believe such action to be advisable. They therefore recommend that a committee be appointed by the town with full powers to act in this matter.

Fourth. In the suit of the late W. C. Boyce v. Town of Braintree, with the information the committee has received, would recommend the Selectmen to settle said claim at once.

Fifth. In the claim of the White heirs for mill damages against the town, the Selectmen having had notice that suit would be made, but not entered for trial, we recommend that the same committee take this matter under consideration, and, if possible, adjust the claim without further litigation.

DANIEL POTTER,

For the Committee.

BRAINTREE, Jan. 28, 1891.

Voted, 'To receive the report, and place the same on file.

Voted, That a committee of three be appointed by the Chair to take into consideration the educational needs of the town and report at the annual meeting in March next.

Moderator appointed Daniel Potter, Josephus Sampson, and Thomas A. Watson.

Voted, That we adjourn.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The members of the School Committee of Braintree respectfully submit the following report for the year 1890–1891:—

As heretofore, of late years, they have made no attempt to discuss educational topics and theories, or to go into a detailed account of the working of the schools under their charge, believing that such subjects come more properly within the province of the Superintendent's report, but have confined themselves to a statement of the appropriations and expenditures, estimates for the ensuing year, a brief account of the more important questions coming before them during the year for settlement, the condition of the town property in their special department, and such general items in regard to the schools as may be interesting to all citizens in the town.

In one respect, at least, the past year has been a remarkable one in the history of our schools. There has been an unprecedented increase in the number of scholars, so great in some parts of the town that the accommodations proving utterly inadequate to the demand, the question at once arose as to the best method of providing additional room.

So far as one could judge, the increase was a permanent and growing one, and in providing for it the committee felt that they ought to look ahead somewhat, and not seek merely to bridge over present difficulties. In thus making plans for the future it was necessary to decide what policy should be pursued in regard to the distribution of schools over the town, whether they should be grouped together, so far as possible, in large buildings in the centres of population, or whether they should be scattered generally over the town, in small detached buildings. Braintree seemed to be well adapted to carrying out the first line of policy, there being three well-defined centres of population, all fairly easy of access to surrounding territory; and, therefore, the committee were inclined to favor this policy in case it should be found that it was likely to produce good results in the work of teachers and scholars, and to be in the line of a wise economy for the town.

It is generally agreed among those who have investigated the subject, and it would seem plain even to the casual observer, that teachers can handle forty or even fifty pupils, all in the same grade, to better advantage than they can handle half that number, when they are in several different grades. It is possible to concentrate the attention and work out of school hours upon fewer subjects, with consequently less strain and confusion, and in the schoolroom to make the best and most economical use of time, when all the pupils are in one grade and at work on the same subjects. town, therefore, that consolidates its schools so as to place a teacher in charge of one grade only, offers opportunities for the best quality of work, and consequently can attract better talent in the way of teaching; talent that shall be especially adapted to the age of the pupil and to the subject taught. Under this system, fewer teachers being required in proportion to the number of pupils, a town can afford to pay higher salaries, and thus insure keeping good teachers with some degree of permanence, to become identified with and take a personal interest in the community.

Furthermore, where a town has one large building, instead of several small ones, it can afford to have such a building on a more elaborate and substantial scale, something that shall be an ornament to the place and an education alike to pupils and parents.

In centres of population there is less chance of malicious injury to school buildings, and more competent janitor service can be procured. Much trouble, too, may be saved in the distribution of supplies; and finally there might be a great economy in supervision, for there would be no necessity for committees and superintendent to expend time and strength in travelling longer or shorter distances from school to school.

Such, in brief, are some of the arguments in favor of the policy of the consolidation of schools. There is, of course, something to be said on the other side, mainly confined, however, to the difficulties of pupils from the outlying districts in reaching the large central schools, and to the disadvantages of large numbers of pupils of different ages using the same playgrounds. The latter objection seems to be somewhat imaginary, and at any rate might be overcome to some extent by increasing the size of the playgrounds, and by having one teacher each day take special charge of the same during recess time. The first objection is a more serious one, and would be entitled to much consideration if it were true of any large number of pupils. In Braintree, with large schools in the three centres of population, and outlying schools in the South and West districts, few if any pupils would have to go an unreasonable distance. In case of the few that were out of reach, it would be more economical to furnish transportation than to establish schools for them. In fact, the number of schools would have to be very large in order to bring every pupil within easy distance.

The question is not a new one, for the policy of the consolidation of schools has been successfully tried in other towns, notably in Concord, in this State, and is strongly recommended by the State Board of Education. The committee, therefore, after a careful consideration of the whole subject, decided to adopt this policy in Braintree, and to plan the additional accommodations needed, in accordance therewith.

The Union and Pond schoolhouses were centrally located, and, being good buildings so far as they went, it seemed desirable to add to them, if this could be conveniently and economically done, rather than to build entirely new buildings. It seemed desirable, too, by these additions, to make them eight-room buildings at once, for although the present numbers would not perhaps justify placing one teacher in charge of each grade, yet everything pointed to the certainty of this being both possible and necessary within a very short time. By making the whole addition at one and the same time, much might be saved in the way of time and money, and a more harmonious whole, in the way of a building, obtained.

In the case of the East part of the town, neither the location nor the buildings of either of the present schoolhouses seemed favorable to any such enlargement, and it was part of the committee's plan to build an entirely new eight-room building in some central location in that part of the town, when the number of pupils should make it advisable and necessary.

An architect was employed to make plans of the proposed additions to the Pond and Union schoolhouses, with what seemed to the committee very favorable results. Two eight-room buildings, well arranged, and capable of excellent heating and ventilation, were to be obtained at a fairly moderate cost. The plans were submitted to the town in July last, and an appropriation asked to

The whole matter was referred to a special carry them out. committee to act with the School Committee, and report at a future meeting. This action made it necessary to postpone any building operations for a year, and temporary quarters were procured for the overflow of the Union schools in the Winter Building. No such quarters were obtainable in the Pond district, and in consequence the rooms in the Pond Schoolhouse have been very much overcrowded, seats being placed in every available space in the aisles, and even on the platform, greatly to the detriment of work and health among pupils and teachers. The special committee and the School Committee have unanimously agreed upon the plans substantially as recommended by the School Committee, and it is earnestly hoped that the town may take favorable action thereon, in such season that all may be in readiness to begin work as soon as the schools close next summer.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The committee still think that the High School ought to have better accommodations, and that a change from the present quarters will be an absolute necessity before long. It has seemed best, however, not to urge this matter further until the other and more pressing needs of the lower grades have been met. When the time comes for providing larger and better equipped accommodations, the committee hope to remodel and improve the High School somewhat, perhaps adding another year to the course.

SOUTHWEST SCHOOL.

The largest number of pupils actually attending this school at any one time last year, was eight, and the prospect was that this number would not be increased in September, but rather diminished. It seemed somewhat expensive to hire a teacher, and pay for the care, heating, and repairs of a building for such a very small number of pupils. The school was not reopened in September, therefore, and some of the pupils were enrolled in the West School, and the remainder in the Pond schools. The action was certainly wise from an economic stand-point, and not detrimental to the children, who, without going an unreasonable distance, could get the benefit of better graded schools.

TEACHERS.

There have been some few changes and additions to the corps of teachers during the past year. On account of the large number of pupils, assistant teachers were employed in the Pond First and Second Primary schools, in September last. In the Union Second Primary, an additional teacher was procured at the same time, to take the place of Miss Hadley, who had been put in charge of the temporary school in the Winter Building. For various reasons three teachers resigned in the course of the year, and one teacher left on account of the closing of her school. All of these, however, were teachers who had been recently employed, and the committee was fortunate in being able to fill their places with seemingly excellent material. The older and more reliable teachers have remained, and the town may congratulate itself, on the whole, upon having an earnest and intelligent body of men and women to look after the education of its children. This is in a measure due to the more generous treatment accorded of late years, and even during the present year the committee made a slight increase in salary in one or two instances, where long and faithful service. combined with good ability, made it seem not only just, but in the best interests of the town so to do. The matter of fixing salaries so as to procure and keep good teachers, and still be within the bounds of what the town can reasonably afford to pay, is one of no small difficulty, and is one which has cost the committee much time and thought.

Teachers' meetings have been held at regular intervals during the year, and the questions of general educational interest discussed thereat have been of assistance to both Superintendent and teachers in securing uniform and systematic ideas of the best methods of work.

The practice of allowing teachers one or two days in the course of a year, in which to visit other schools, is productive of excellent results when a conscientious and intelligent use is made of such opportunities.

EXAMINATIONS.

For some years the committee has given a good deal of consideration, from time to time, to the question of examinations; in other words, as to the best method of ascertaining fitness for promotion in the various grades, and more especially for entrance to the High School. The old method of one examination in writing at the end of the year for admission to the High School, and oral examinations twice a year in the lower grades, often worked serious injustice to some and promoted others who were not properly fitted. The plan substituted in place of this, of having four written examinations during the year in the four upper grades, and making it necessary to obtain a certain average in all four examinations to insure promotion and entrance to the High School, worked well in some ways, but was cumbersome and consumed too much time, both on the part of pupils and teachers. In September the committee adopted still another plan, which it is hoped will give satisfactory results. Two written examinations, one at the end of each term, will be given in the four upper grades. addition to this, the Superintendent will give short written tests every four or five weeks, without previous notice, the results of which will be recorded, and finally the teachers are required, as often as once a week, to make a record of the daily work of each The results of all of these will be considered in making promotions. Thus ample opportunity will be given to show what knowledge has been gained, what progress made, what work done, without the expenditure of too much time and strength. system of marking has also been adopted, which it is hoped will do away with the dissatisfaction, and often injustice, of having small and even fractional differences sometimes influence results.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The expenditure under this head has somewhat overrun the appropriation during the past year, one reason being that large renewals have been necessary. The expense not being materially larger, and the old books in this case being worth something in exchange, the occasion was taken to introduce a number of new and improved text-books. These have so far proved very satisfactory, and have been a help towards carrying out the new course of study begun in September.

Buildings.

It has always been the aim and policy of the committee to keep the property under their charge in good condition, the idea being that this was the best economy in the end, and, furthermore, that it was easier for the town each year to expend a moderate amount than at irregular intervals to be called on for extraordinary expenditures, as would certainly be the case if needed repairs were left to the last possible moment.

The amount appropriated under the head of incidentals for schoolhouses, last March, was somewhat larger than usual, and most of it has been expended to good purpose in the directions then proposed. It was thought best, however, not to do anything about painting the Union Schoolhouse until a decision was reached in regard to the proposed additional accommodations, as, in case additions to or changes in the present building were made the work of painting would have to be done all over again.

In the Iron Works Schoolhouse it was decided not to put a new floor into the intermediate room this year, but instead to renew the furniture in the grammar room, the old furniture being inconvenient in kind and much dilapidated. The new furniture here, as well as that bought for the temporary school in the Winter Building, is of the best and strongest kind, and would of course be available in any new buildings or additions that might be built.

Nothing has been done in regard to more improved methods of heating and ventilation, nor is any special recommendation now made in this direction, for it has seemed best to the committee to delay even the carrying out of the directions of the Chief of District Police, until the matter of the additional accommodations should be settled, so that some general plan might be proposed.

CONVEYANCE.

At the last annual town-meeting the sum of $200 was appropriated for the purposes of conveyance. With this money, or such portion of it as was necessary, season tickets have been purchased for all the pupils in the High School coming from the East part of the town, thirteen in number. These children have thus been able to attend school regularly, without travelling great distances over rough and exposed roads, a thing often dangerous to their health, and sometimes impossible to accomplish under any circumstances. This is a piece of justice that has long been deferred, and the committee and all concerned feel grateful that the town has at last been willing to carry it out.

In General.

The committee feel justified in saying that the schools in Braintree are making satisfactory progress. The methods used and the results obtained will compare favorably with those of other towns of the same size throughout the State. The great drawback and chief source of complaint from all the teachers is irregularity in attendance. When this arises from sickness, it is, of course, only a subject for regret; but when it is caused by parents keeping their children at home to do work or run errands, then there is cause for very serious complaint. Not only are such parents breaking the law, they are deliberately sacrificing the future of those committed to their care. They should, instead, make every possible effort to allow their children to take full advantage of the privileges afforded by the town. If they would do this, and manifest interest themselves by visiting the schools, they would be amply repaid by the increased progress and improvement of their children.

In closing, the committee would ask the careful attention of all interested to the Superintendent's report, hereto appended.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINT NDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Committee of Braintree:

Ladies and Gentlemen, — To gauge accurately for a single year the development of so complex an institution as the public schools of a rapidly growing town is a difficult task, because of the numerous and variable elements entering into it. In presenting this sixth annual report of the Superintendent of Schools, and the second of the present incumbent, the truth of that statement seems to be well illustrated.

While the progress made by our schools during the past year is highly gratifying, it must not be assumed that the advance has been equal in all directions, or that there have been no failures and no occasions for criticism.

On the other hand, because there is occasion for criticism and change in some directions, it does not follow that our schools are failures, or are in the worst condition possible; for that would be an unfair appreciation of the good things accomplished.

For whatever good results follow the efforts of the Superintendent, large credit is due the Committee because of their cordial favor and support, and to the teachers because of their friendly co-operation.

ATTENDANCE.

The attendance of pupils was much interrupted last spring by the prevalence of influenza and measles. It became necessary to close the Middle Street School for two weeks, and the East School for one week. This winter, whooping-cough and mumps are causing much absence.

Of the absence for other reasone than sickness, by far the larger part, at least three fourths, is due to a very few pupils; and they are the ones who can least afford to lose the benefits of common education. It would be a blessing to these delinquent pupils, and to their parents, if their regular attendance could be secured.

INADEQUATE ACCOMMODATIONS.

The owner of a valuable horse takes care that the "noble animal" has warm, commodious, well-ventilated quarters.

Our children, "the hope of the nation," have a fair right to a corresponding care in the buildings erected for their education.

Two hundred and fifty cubic feet of space is considered a proper minimum for each pupil in a schoolroom. Certainly, in a space much smaller than that, the best results are not easily attainable, and the welfare of the pupil is jeopardized.

The cubic feet of space in the rooms of the three large school-houses, and the present amount for each pupil are as follows:—

| School and Room. | Cubic feet of space. | Space for each pupil. |
|----------------------|----------------------|-----------------------|
| Pond School:— | | |
| Grammar Room | 11,687 | 334 |
| Intermediate Room | 11,687 | 225 |
| First Primary Room | 9,269 | 154 |
| Secon Primary Room | 9,269 | 160 |
| UNION SCHOOL: — | | |
| Grammar Room | 10,497 | 244 |
| Intermediate Room | 8,542 | 237 |
| First Primary Room | 8,415 | 179 |
| Second Primary Room | 8,415 | 165 |
| IRON WORKS SCHOOL:— | | |
| Grammar Room | 8,781 | 251 |
| Intermediate Room | 6,075 | 141 |
| First Primary Room | 6,515 | 260 |
| Second Primary Room | 8,781 | 191 |

Lassitude, inattention, loss of power to study, headache, lung and throat diseases, impaired vision, infirm health, are, in many cases, traceable to the vitiated air of the schoolroom as the efficient cause.

COURSE OF STUDY.

It is becoming more and more evident that we are trying to accomplish a greater amount of work than can be done well in the time allotted. The teachers are ready to "get the pupils over" the work assigned, but it cannot be done satisfactorily to any one; and hence they have been advised to insist on thoroughness rather than amount.

The average age of the class that entered the High School this year was fourteen years and six months, and that average is not likely to be materially changed for many years to come. It is as much work as a pupil of ordinary ability can do well to complete the studies of the grammar and primary schools in nine years. To ask him to complete them in eight years results in just what would naturally follow, — either a work incompleted or a knowledge half acquired. To insist upon mental work that is more difficult or more severe than the immature mind can sustain, is to do an unqualified injury.

A little saving of time has been made by abolishing the half-time attendance of the first grade after the first of November. A still further saving could be made by allowing beginners to enter in April, in order to become accustomed to attending school and to school ways, if the present accommodations of the schools did not forbid it.

The real need, however, is an additional year to the course of study,—for which also there are no accommodations.

RECORDS OF SCHOLARSHIP.

In place of the four written examinations of last year, there have been substituted two written examinations, a series of occasional written tests by the Superintendent, and a weekly record of standing kept by the teachers. The object of the weekly record is to ascertain in a general way the pupils' studiousness and success in daily work; the written tests are to try the pupils' apprehension and power of application of the subjects in hand; and the written examinations are for the purpose of recording the pupils' attainment in comprehending and retaining the work of a term. A comparison of these three records is to form the basis for promotion at the end of the year.

While it is too early to judge fully the merits of this system the indications thus far are entirely favorable to its retention and faithful trial. A stronger and steadier interest in daily work and a livelier sense of the practical bearing of the various studies are manifest on the part of the pupils; and there is much less temptation to regard the written examination as the great end of study and effort.

MARKING SYSTEM.

Education is not merchandise; and there is an incongruity in assigning a money value to it, or in measuring it by an exact per cent.

Fine distinctions as to amount of mental acquisition or development, such as lead to averaging and determining individual rank, are misleading. Not the close, sharp marking of an expert, but a broad, general system that encourages the faithfulness of all rather than the brilliancy of a few, is desirable in connection with the public schools.

It is even more important to avoid a slavish devotion to the imaginary virtue of the highest standing in a class. The highest standing during school life is no guaranty of equal honor in the struggles and vicissitudes of later years; and it is a fair criticism of the public school that it fails of a just appreciation of abilities when it undertakes to measure scholarship with the precision of a per cent.

The five-mark system introduced this year, although a radical change from the per cent system, promises well to promote a more just record and to dispel some false notions.

TEXT-BOOKS AND STUDIES.

The new books introduced in September have already justified the extra expense involved above the outlay that would have been required in replacing the old ones.

In the Wentworth Arithmetics, more attention is given to developing carefulness and thinking on the part of the pupils, and less to the formal statement of special rules. The problems, also, are more closely related to those of actual business.

- "Coggswell's Lessons in Number," commends itself for primary use by its simplicity and thoroughness.
- "Hyde's Lessons in English" has made a very noticeable change for the better in the language work of the upper primary and intermediate grades; and it is recommended that next year corresponding work of the same author be introduced into the grammar grades.

The course in reading suggested in the last report has been put in operation, the Monroe Readers being used in all grades for study and drill. A decided gain in the quality of articulation and in the power of expression is apparent. The supplementary readers have been distributed in sets of six in the graded schools, and in sets of three in all other schools. This arrangement does away with the confusion of a wholesale exchange of books every few weeks, provides for a grading of reading-matter in all the rooms, and promotes reading at sight. In the lower primary grades, it seems that six of a kind is too small a number of books, and that a complete set for each pupil is quite desirable.

The great embarrassment of trying to use two text-books in geography has been done away by completing the introduction of Warren's Geographies that was begun several years ago. The result is a much-needed relief. A careful and systematic rearrangement of the subject-matter of the text-book, with some supplementary reading and practical exercises, would still further improve the instruction given in this branch.

The instruction in history would be improved by less confinement to the order and phraseology of the book, by a topical method requiring individual study, and by a closer connection with geography and with the institutions and events of to-day.

An attempt is being made to enforce the legal requirements concerning instruction in physiology, and especially with reference to the use of intoxicating drinks and narcotics.

In the last annual report, a plea was made for special instruction in music and drawing. That instruction has not been furnished, and the condition of those branches is not creditable to the town. Every town contiguous to Braintree has a special teacher of music. An appropriation of $300 would secure one for Braintree.

PHYSICAL AND MANUAL TRAINING.

There is a widespread movement amongst educators for the purpose of securing more scientific and practical attention to physical training. Erectness, symmetry, tone, ease of carriage, are not conducive to fine personal appearance alone; they are highly important to health and vigor of body and mind. Gymnastics occupied a large place in ancient Greek education. It well becomes us to profit by the example of those whose excellence in art, in scholarship, and in philosophy has not been surpassed by any nation since.

Manual training is also coming more and more into prominence, and is taking a more practical form, as the wisdom of it is more clearly seen and felt. It would be well to introduce some features of manual training at an early day, and meanwhile to determine what those features shall be.

The schoolhouse of the near future will probably contain a separate room for physical training, manual training, and practical exercises.

HIGH SCHOOL.

With the exception of a more rigid attention to the standard for entrance, no action has been taken toward improving the condition and prospects of the High School.

The suggestions of last year are simply to be repeated with emphasis. When a fair consideration is given to the actual condition of the ventilation, the light, the desks, the apparatus, and the course of study, much credit is to be accorded to teachers and pupils for the attainments made.

One year ago, there were forty-two pupils in the highest grade of the grammar schools, possible candidates for the High School. If they had all entered a change in the accommodations would have been necessary; but only thirty appeared in September, and these, with the usual decreased membership of the upper classes, made the whole number of pupils in the High School a little smaller than that of last year. Thus an immediate change was averted. But this year there are sixty-nine pupils in the highest grade of the grammar schools, and if a like proportion enter the High School next September, there will be fifty to be accommodated, instead of thirty, as this year.

PUBLIC SPIRIT.

In the public schools, as nowhere else, there is opportunity for encouraging public spirit, — not the clannishness that is contented to rival some other community, but a freeman's interest in the welfare of his own village, that impels him to generous and hearty support of measures that will advance his neighbors as well as himself in the pursuit of the blessings of life. By suggesting and encouraging the united action of the pupils in the protection and improvement of school property, in procuring desirable apparatus, in the planting and care of trees and flowers, in observing public days; by teaching to observe what things in the community are attractive and excellent, and what would be desirable, but are lacking; and by discouraging whatever hinders true loyalty to public interests, the foundation will be laid for manifold good works in the days to come.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

Arrangements have been made for holding meetings of the teachers about once a month, during the year.

At these meetings, practical questions affecting the methods of instruction are presented and discussed by the teachers, by the agents of the State Board of Education, or by other educators, and always with direct reference to the improvement of our schools.

The teachers also report, for the benefit of all, the excellences and defects of schools they have visited.

TEACHERS AND TEACHING.

The town is to be congratulated in having so many faithful, capable teachers. Their talents and services deserve more than a passing word. To apprehend the condition and needs of the youthful mind, to engage and hold its interest, to apply systematic training, to arrange and impart requisite information, and to inculcate noble sentiments and aspirations, — that is, to teach, — is an art of a very high order; and the practise of this art calls for talent in no way inferior to that needed in the practise of any profession. If we owe any gratitude to the force of character and beneficent instruction of a former teacher, let us pay the debt in part by appreciating more adequately the abilities and labors of the excellent teachers now at work.

There is need, also, that better opportunities and greater encouragement be afforded to those who have the desire and the natural qualifications to fit themselves for teachers. We are losing many who might become good teachers, through the greater inducements of other callings; and the talent we ought to command is not easy to secure.

OUTLOOK.

Many of the suggestions offered involve an increase in expenditures. That is unavoidable, and should be willingly provided. It is our desire and our duty to maintain the highest welfare of our schools. Without waste and without extravagance, it is still as true in school affairs as elsewhere, that whatever is valuable costs something.

The actual membership of the schools has increased ten per cent during the year, and in the graded schools the increase is fifteen per cent. This means a corresponding increase in the annual expenses of the schools. There is every prospect of an equally large increase during the year to come; and this calls for an immediate and large increase in accommodations. A similar increase in business interests and in the valuation of the town seems to justify a much larger appropriation for schools.

The call is great, the resources are ample, the will of the people is good, — and every unnecessary delay involves loss and needless hindrance. With prompt liberality and wise administration, our schools will be sure to advance to the full realization of our highest hopes.

Respectfully submitted,

C. W. FEARING.
